Hi Jon,

We have reviewed your discovery request. These issues have already been litigated and the Court has determined that your request is not material under any relevant discovery standard, and our notice under Federal Rule of Evidence 414 does not alter that determination. In any event, we have now withdrawn our initial notice under Rule 414 and filed an amended notice explaining that we do not intend to introduce as evidence at trial background information related to the investigation that resulted in the search of your client's home. We are also noticing our intent to introduce additional evidence related to the interview of your client during the search of his home. Accordingly, your discovery request is not relevant and not material under any applicable discovery standard.

Best,
Bill

Hi Jay and Bill,

Please let us know by close of business tomorrow whether the government intends to produce the information requested in my letter so that we can decide whether to move to compel the production of that information. Thank you.

Best,
